◀ SCHOOL REPORT. ▶

During the year there have been thirty-five schools in town taught by twenty-two different teachers, two male and twenty female teachers. Whole number of different pupils attending school during the year, 270. Whole number of different pupils attending to the following studies: Reading, 270; Spelling, 270; Penmanship, 218; Arithmetic, 243; Geography, 127; Grammar, 86; Composition, 28; Algebra, 16; Book-keeping, 7; Physiology, 8; Geometry, 1; Philosophy, 1; History, 9; Vocal Music, 13.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Prudential Committee, Joseph Brown. Summer term of eight weeks, and winter term of eleven weeks, taught by Mrs. Etta M. Gilman. I have taught this school for four successive terms. This is a very pleasant school and contains some fine scholars for children of their age. The scholars were interested in their work, and excellent improvement was made. Whole number of scholars, first term, 17; average attendance, 15; second term, 22; average attendance, 17. Wages of teacher per month, first term, $20; second term, $22.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Prudential Committee, Myron Clough. Summer term of eight weeks, taught by Miss Abbie L. Lougee, one of our most thorough teachers, who allows nothing to be passed over without being perfectly committed and thoroughly understood. Order and improvement excellent. Whole number of scholars, 14; average attendance, 13. Wages of teacher per month, $14.

Winter term of fourteen weeks taught by Mr. Frank C. Page. Mr. Page deservedly ranks high as an instructor. Perfect order was maintained, and the school made rapid and thorough improvement. The school was successful in every particular. The number of visitors present at the close of each term, showed that the parents as well as the teacher and scholars were interested in the success of the school. Whole number of scholars, 18; average attendance, 14. Wages of teacher per month, $18. Board given both terms.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Prudential Committee, Albert R. Page. Summer term of seven weeks, fall term of six weeks taught by Miss M. Agnes White, a quiet, unassuming teacher, whose kind and winning manner won the love and respect of her pupils. Order and progress commendable. Whole number of scholars, 9; average attendance, 9. Wages of teacher per month, $16.

Winter term of ten weeks taught by Miss Olive E. Sanborn, who is one of our ablest and most experienced teachers. Miss Sanborn labored earnestly and faithfully for the best good of the school, and her efforts were crowned with success. Whole number of scholars, 10; average attendance, 10. Wages of teacher per month, $22.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Prudential Committee, B. W. Chapman. One term of ten weeks taught by Miss Sophie George of Barnstead, a faithful and experienced teacher, who seemed to inspire her pupils with a love of study and respect for their teacher. Whole number of scholars, 11; average attendance, 9. Wages of teacher per month, $26.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Prudential Committee, John S. Osborn. Summer term of seven weeks taught by Miss Carrie E. Moore, an active and energetic teacher, thoroughly awake to the duties of the school-room, and performing those duties faithfully and impartially. Order and improvement excellent. Whole number of scholars, 18; average attendance, 17. Wages of teacher per month, $19.

Second term of eleven weeks taught by Miss Cora B. Gale. As an instructress and disciplinarian, Miss Gale deservedly stands in the first rank, sparing neither labor or expense to make her schools interesting and profitable. The school was a perfect success. Whole number of pupils, 21; average attendance, 19. Wages of teacher per month, $24.

DISTRICT No. 6.

Prudential Committee, James W. Cogswell. First term of nine weeks taught by Miss Addie B. Parsons. Miss Parsons is a young teacher, yet she acquitted herself nobly, discharging the duties of the school-room quietly and cheerfully. Good order and improvement were marked characteristics of this school. Whole number of scholars, 13; average attendance, 11. Wages of teacher per month, $17.78.

Second term of nine weeks taught by Mr. Frank C. Page, who manifested the same interest and untiring zeal in his duties as in No. 2, thus sustaining his reputation as a teacher and disciplinarian. Whole number of scholars, 19; average attendance, 16. Wages of teacher per month, $22.

DISTRICT No. 7.

Prudential Committee, Jonathan Ellis. One term of thirteen weeks taught by Miss Abbie L. Lougee. This school under Miss Lougee's instruction, made good improvement. The pupils seemed to have improved their advantages to the best of their ability. Whole number of scholars, 9; average attendance, 8. Wages of teacher per month, $16.

DISTRICT No. 8.

Prudential Committee, Wilbur Mudgett. One term of seventeen weeks taught by Miss M. Winnie Judkins. This school made fair progress, but there was not that degree of thoroughness on the part of some, which might reasonably be expected in a school of this length. Whole number of scholars, 9; average attendance, 7. Wages of teacher per month, $24.

DISTRICT No. 9.

Prudential Committee, Horace Drew. First term of ten weeks, second term of twelve weeks, third term of nine weeks taught by Miss Idella May Drew, a teacher of well known literary attainments, excelling in some methods of instruction. This is a large school composed mostly of small children, full of life and activity and rather restless under restraint. At the close of the summer term, the scholars were very prompt and correct in their answers. At the close of the winter term, the few that were present gave evidence of thorough and practical drill. Order good. Whole number of scholars, first term, 23: second term, 26: third term, 17. Average attendance, first term, 26: second term, 23: third term, 12. Wages of teacher per month, first term, $22: second term, $23: third term, $30.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Prudential Committee, E. P. Ellsworth. First term of nine weeks taught by Miss Ada B. Allen of Exeter. This was the teacher's first term. At the closing examination, the classes in arithmetic were deficient: advancement in other branches fair. Whole number of scholars, 5: average attendance, 5. Wages of teacher per month, $18.

Second term of ten and three-fifths weeks taught by Addie A. Dow of Barnstead. Order and progress good. Whole number of scholars, 5: average attendance, 5. Wages of teacher per month, $18.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Prudential Committee, Marcus Weeks. Summer term of eight weeks taught by Miss Cora B. Gale. It is seldom that a school as small as this, composed of nearly all small scholars, is favored with a teacher of Miss Gale's ability and experience. In this case, home talent was appreciated: order faultless: progress good. Whole number of scholars, 9: average attendance, 9. Wages of teacher per month, $18.

Fall term of eight weeks taught by Miss Lizzie M. Paige, a teacher who has had but little experience. Miss Paige labored earnestly, and the closing examination showed good improvement. Whole number of scholars, 10: average attendance, 10. Wages of teacher per month, $18.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

Prudential Committee, Edwin S. Nelson. Summer term of eight weeks taught by Miss Fannie Ham, an experienced and successful teacher, striving to render the duties of the school-room pleasant and agreeable to all. Order and advancement satisfactory. Whole number of scholars, 9: average attendance, 8. Wages of teacher per month not reported.

Fall term of eight weeks taught by Miss Cora B. Gale. The closing examination reflected credit on teacher and scholar. Whole number of scholars, 11: average attendance, 9. Wages of teacher per month, $16.

Winter term of eight weeks taught by Miss Minnie Price. Miss Price endeavors to present every subject in a clear and comprehensive manner. Order and improvement fair. Whole number of scholars, 13; average attendance, 10. Wages of teacher per month, $16.

DISTRICT No. 13.

Prudential Committee, Albert A. Jones. First term of seven weeks, second term of eleven weeks taught by Miss Carrie M. Jones, a teacher deeply interested, not only in the intellectual, but moral culture of the youthful mind, leading the pupil to think for himself and to express his thoughts in his own language. Singing was a very pleasant exercise. The copy-books were models of neatness and legibility. Advancement in all the branches excellent. Order good. Whole number of scholars, first term, 14; average attendance, 12. Second term, whole number of scholars, 10; average attendance, 9. Wages of teacher per month, $16.

DISTRICT No. 14.

Prudential Committee, Fred Pease. One term of fourteen weeks taught by Miss Ella C. Hancock. Under Miss H.'s skillful management the school made commendable progress. Order good. Whole number of scholars, 14; average attendance, 13. Wages of teacher per month, $16.

DISTRICT No. 15.

Prudential Committee, William Adams. One term of eleven and four-fifths weeks taught by Mrs. Etta M. Gilman. Improvement good. Whole number of scholars, 14; average attendance, 11. Wages of teacher per month, $20.

DISTRICT No. 16.

Prudential Committee, Charles T. Weeks. Summer term of seven weeks, fall term of twelve weeks taught by Miss Olive E. Sanborn. A good teacher and a successful term. Order excellent. Whole number of scholars, first term, 6; average attendance, 6; second term, whole number of scholars, 10; average attendance, 6. Wages of teacher per month, first term, $16; second term, $17.

DISTRICT No. 17.

Prudential Committee, Madison C. Lamprey. Summer term of eight weeks taught by Miss Iva Price. This is the smallest school in town, composed of small scholars, but Miss Price succeeded in making it pleasant, interesting and profitable. The improvement was very good. Whole number of scholars, 3; average attendance, 3. Wages of teacher per month, $18.

Fall term of six and four-fifths weeks taught by Miss Ardena M. Diamond. The teacher remarks: "I feel a deep interest in this school; it is very interesting, though small." The improvement made during the term, the number of visits by parents and others during both terms, indicate that scholars and parents also were interested in the welfare of the school. Whole number of scholars, 3; average attendance, 3. Wages for teacher per month, $18.

DISTRICT NO. 18.

Prudential Committee, Willis Marsh. Summer term of eight weeks, fall term of eight weeks taught by Miss Emma A. Clarke of Durham. Miss Clarke is a practical and experienced teacher, whose apt and lucid illustrations readily convey to the mind of the pupil the subject taught. The teacher labored earnestly and faithfully in the discharge of her arduous duties. The closing examination of the summer term was largely attended by parents and friends. The closing exercises were particularly interesting and instructive. The examination of the second term showed thorough and practical improvement. Whole number of scholars, first term, 42; average attendance, 40; whole number of scholars, second term, 38; average attendance, 36. Wages of teacher per month, $36.

Winter term of nine weeks taught by Mr. Charles H. Brock. The duties of the teacher in this school are many and varied, requiring patience, firmness and perseverance, yet Mr. Brock was adequate to the task. The teacher remarks: "I think I have gained the good will of my scholars." A very essential thing in any school, and especially in a school like this. The examination proved that the teacher and scholars had been co-workers during the term. Whole number of scholars, 41; average attendance, 35. Wages of teacher per month, $40.

GENERAL REMARKS.

In the foregoing report I have endeavored to represent each school as it appeared when visited.

The teachers for the year, with one exception, have had more or less experience, and have labored earnestly for the interest of their respective schools, and with a good degree of success. In some districts the same teachers have been employed, as in previous terms, a wise and economic plan, for different teachers have different methods of teaching, and it necessarily takes time for teacher and pupils to become accustomed to each other. There has been no disturbance to interrupt the harmony of any school during the year, As a rule there seemed to be a mutual feeling of love and good-will existing between teachers and pupils, and in several instances the scholars have expressed their love and respect for their teachers by presenting them with some fitting tribute of their esteem at the close of the term.

In closing, permit me to express my thanks to parents and citizens, teachers and pupils, for the kindness and courtesy shown me during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. ETTA M. GILMAN, S. S. Com.
